Message from the Vice Chancellor

An Annual Report faithfully records the journey of 365 days of an institution. The purpose of an annual report is to record, preserve and visualise the stories of success and achievements of the institution. A University does not stand alone. It is a social institution. Therefore it has social responsibilities and it sincerely tries to carry those responsibilities transgressing all the barriers and hurdles. Krishna Kanta Handiqui State Open University is the first and only Open University in the north-east. It has a huge learner base and its educational programmes are well appreciated for their effectiveness and academic relevance. Our academic journey clearly justifies our presence in the educational sector of the state. This university is pleased to accommodate the educational aspirations of the marginalised and under privileged section of the society. It tries to present itself not as figures in the landscape but shapes of it.

The year 2016-17 is crucial for the University. It is the time period when the University honours stalwarts like Prof. Mrinal Miri, a prominent name in the country's educational scenario with Krishna Kanta Handiqui National Award, hosts Krishna Kanta Handiqui Memorial Lecture delivered by internally acclaimed film maker Shri Budhadev Dasgupta. All the efforts result in strengthening our capabilities, enriching our Open-ended approach towards incessant inquisitiveness, etc., Education in the globalised world has to face various problems of multifarious insensitivity. Educational aspirations have attained complex dimensions. We therefore, have to keep ourselves abreast of all the happenings in our surroundings so that we can perceive and analyse changes.

Changes are crucial. They are our guiding spirits to devise necessary plans and formulation of objectives in accordance with shifting priorities. They give us an idea of how things have moved despite our ignorance and resistance. We need to take them seriously to enlighten our framework of analysis. KKHSOU strongly believes in the idea of integration for creating ample space of our diversified learner base so that changes may be accommodated.

This is also the time when the University has organised the Second Convocation. Prof. Ravindra Kumar Vice Chancellor (i/c), IGNOU was the Chief Guest. He presented the convocation address where he laid emphasis on the open learning system as the foremost tool in democratisation of education and urged the learners to take pride as they are free to select the education they pursue. Prof. Kumar also printed out that with the revival of educational radio and broadcast channels like Gyan Vani and Gyan Darshan, there would be ample opportunities for content sharing and reaching out to learners.

All these indicate our areas of interest and concerns in order to strengthen our academic journey. An educational institution is led by certain goals and it encourages us to cross all the possible barriers within a specific time frame. This Annual Report gives us a glimpse of our enlightened ventures to address issues of educational priorities within the framework of social commitment.

The university also provides audio CDs to visually impaired learners.

The following are the ICT based support services provided to the learners-

- 1. KKHSOU Website: KKHSOU has developed a full-fledged website (www.kkhsou.in) with a view to providing all necessary information regarding the University. The Website is also equipped with the social networking site like Facebook (<http://facebook.com/kkhsoucitycentre>) to interact with the learners, faculty members and other people. The website also includes the customised study centre search facility based on district or academic programme. The website also supports a facility for learners where learners can subscribe for university related news.
- 2. KKHSOU Mobile Web Application: KKHSOU Mobile application has been launched for android devices, which can be downloaded from Google Play Store. The same application can also be used for non-android devices. The application provides students an access to the university portal using mobile phones.
- 3. Web and Audio Lectures: Video classes and academic discussions are produced and uploaded at You Tube and University's website.
- 4. e-BIDYA: An e-learning portal by the name of e-BIDYA has been launched. It is a digital repository where the study materials are uploaded for the benefit of the learners. All the study materials of the programmes (including BPP, Degree, Diploma, Master Degree, Certificate course, etc) can be accessed in this web-portal.

- 5. Community Radio Service: The Community Radio, mainly being a platform for the community for taking up community issues, is also an important platform for the broadcast of educational programmes which include debates, discussions, and talk shows.
The programmes that are continuously prepared by the Section are given below-
- The educational programme EKLAVYA is broadcasted by All India Radio (AIR) every Saturday and Sunday from 8 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

It provides all essential details about Central Library, KKHSOU including access to electronic library, Online Public Access Catalogues (OPAC), and subscribed journals and databases. It also provides email alert service (current awareness service) to the learners and is linked with major social networks including Facebook and Twitter.
- 7. Question Paper Repository: A question paper repository has been developed for all programmes offered by the university. The repository includes past examination questions (updated where relevant), and also exam style and standard questions to support and prepare students for their exams.

Multimedia Production Unit

The Multimedia Production Unit (MPU) performs various activities by amalgamating different forms of media in teaching-learning process. In the age of information technology, learners look for more innovative ways to learn rather than relying on the conventional modes of education. Open and distance learning being a flexible mode of education should try to remove the gap existing between teachers and the learners. As such, new modes of educational technology like the audio and audio visual materials can suffice this requirement. The learners can either listen to audio or view the audio visual programmes for their better understanding. The MPU of the University produces academic programmes in audio as well as audio-visual format.

It also produces a weekly educational audio programme named as 'Ekalavya' which is broadcast by All India Radio, Guwahati and Dibrugarh simultaneously on every Saturday from 8 pm - 8.30 pm. This is one of the most popular programmes where the listeners provide us their feedback. The Unit also produces audio learning materials for the visually impaired learners of the University.

Ekalavya, an academic programme produced by the multimedia unit of KKHSOU witnessed interviews and experience sharing of some eminent and renowned personalities of the state. For the year 2016 -2017, the following are some of the significant discussions conducted by the unit for Ekalavya:

- Nabin Sarma and Uma Kanta Sarma*: Spritualism and Religious thoughts related to Spring time Festival.

- ii) Eli Ahmed: Relevance of Children Literature in Present times.
- iii) Kamal Hazarika: Cultural Contribution of Assamese people living Abroad.

In Preserving Retkinong Aalun (Folk Song of Karbi)

Since its inception, Community Radio Station (CRS) Jnan Taranga has constantly been involved in working towards the overall community development. In an effort to showcase different ethnic groups of the state, a radio team led by senior programme producer, Shri. Manoj Kumar Deka had visited a village known as 'Rewa Maheswar' situated near Sonapur. A teacher by profession and also an author of Rewa Maheswar, Shri. Rajendra Tumung has extensively studied and analysed the Jhum cultivation songs sung by the Karbis. The Karbi people refer to the folk songs they once sang prior to the cultivation of Jhum as 'Retkinong Aalun' which today are almost on the verge of extinction. Moreover, with the discontinuation of Jhum cultivation, these songs are nowhere to be heard.

The new generations have either not heard these songs or are not much keen towards performing or preserving these folk songs. The radio team has been successful in recording many of these songs which has been sung by a local artist named Lohit Ranghang. Shri. Tumung has also provided explanations of the songs sung by him. In its own way, CRS Jnan Taranga has attempted to preserve these folk songs that contain the treasures of common beliefs, local culture and age old traditions of the Karbi people which shall enable the newer generations to learn and pursue further research in this area.

Jail Study Centres

In the present era of globalisation, an educational institution such as the University should not be confined to the mere circle of imparting education in a common way. Rather, it should be the duty on the part of the University to make contribution to the greater interest of the society in various ways. Accordingly the University had decided to set-up its study centres at different jails of the state, aiming towards intellectual development of the jail learner-inmates. The first study centre was established at the Guwahati Central Jail and followed by two other jails at Jorhat and Abhayapuri.

In the year 2016-2017, the University decided to start 10 more new study centres in various jails of Assam and accordingly, the study centres have been set-up at Dibrugarh, Jorhat, Silchar, Tezpur and Nagaon Central Jails; Sibsagar, Barpeta, Goalpara, Dhubri and Mangaldoi District Jails. Several inmate learners have enrolled themselves in the BPP, Bachelor Degree and Post Graduate programmes of the University. The counselling sessions are underway in all the jail Study Centres of KKHSOU. During 2016-17 sessions, a total of 24 learners were enrolled under programmes like MA, BA, BCA, CCA, CSTCPM.

With a view towards inspiring the jail learner-inmates, the University had arranged the “Brajen Barua Memory Documentary Festival” in various jails throughout the state. In the first phase of this documentary festival, the Central Jails of Dibrugarh, Jorhat and Guwahati together with the District Jails of Golaghat and Mangaldoi were covered with active support from Prisons Headquarters Assam, Guwahati. Renowned film-maker Shri Jahnu Barua had been closely associated with the festival and he interacted with the jail learner-inmates during the festival. Five documentary films selected by him were shown with an aim of inspiring them to be better individuals in the society. Renowned Psychologist Dr. Sangeeta Goswami had interacted with the inmates of Guwahati Central jail and Mangaldoi District jail and had also conducted counselling sessions with them.

PUBLICATIONS

Publication initiatives are crucial for any institution operating in the field of higher education. The issue becomes more important when one comes into contact with an open university. An open university with its vast learner base desires to introduce a number of publications intrinsically related to its mission and vision. Since an open mode does not have the facility of regular classroom interactions, it has to design its publication initiatives in a more systematic way. Krishna Kanta Handiqui State Open University since its inception in 2006 has been actively pursuing its publication initiatives for a wider audience. In the financial year 2016—2017, the University has introduced through its publication wing several working papers which have academic value and social relevance. These working papers reflect the course of intellectual discourse active within the academic atmosphere of the University. In addition to this, these working papers address issues of social interest and other relevant themes. Again the University's research journal Journal of Open Learning and Research Communication encompasses discourses which are of special interest to the distance and open mode of delivering education. Entries carefully selected and reviewed by renowned scholars of the region have made this journal a prominent name within an extremely short period of time. Further, with its regular news letter Horizon the University has been successful to disseminate various pieces of information for the members of the academic community in particular and other members of the society in general.
